A PRAYER FOR TODAY

Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and put your trust in the Lord. (Psalm 4 5)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we pray Thee to look after us and our possessions according to Thy will. Help us to understand Thy ways. Teach us to put more trust and faith in Thee. Reveal to us this day's plan for our life. In the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . ." Amen.

TERRY'S CHANCES

A READER of the World-Herald, Mr Wray M. Scott, objects to Senator Carpenter's proposals. Most of us hate taxes. Having waded through Bureau of Infernal Revenue rules, filled out blanks, written checks, and watched the continued waste of money via Washington, we should feel less sorrowful with respect to Terry, and more with regard to bureaucrats.

Mr. Carpenter has some good ideas about taxes, and how to collect them. He would be more popular, I'm sure, if he would work diligently to abandon the personal property tax racket entirely, and talk morning, noon and night for a sales tax and state income tax and, incidentally, do what he can to tax race-hoss gambling. If he'll do that, and succeed, he can be elected governor of Nebraska in 1960 without making another speech or "insulting" another Nebraska tax-dodger.

KEEP ON GIVING

IT is to be hoped, and probably in vain, that Mr. Dulles licks the insidious enemy that has attacked him in a new sector The country needs his advice even though it is probably necessary to turn most of the responsibility over to another man.

In the meantime, let every thoughtful citizen in the United States contribute to the best of his ability to the fight against cancer. Some successes have been marked up; in due course if researchers are financed we will find a cure for cancer just as researchers financed by popular giving found the remedy for polio, diphtheria, smallpox and diabetes.

ELECTIONS AND POOCHES

OF the eligible 52,000 voters in the city of Lincoln only 10,113 voted in the primary the other day, one out of five Some people say that's a good ratio, but it seems to me that in a town as full-of interest as Lincoln, with so many dissident views and, judging from letters to the newspapers, so many soreheads, that's a mighy poor showing But it happens elsewhere, too In our town the man who yelps the loudest sometimes never goes to the polls to vote

In the council race in Lincoln a woman with the strange name of Helen Boosalis ran third. She's head of the League of Women Voters, an organization I learned to know pretty well a few years ago when its questionnaires to candidates for office contained so derned many things of a personal nature I wondered if the gals weren't simply engaged in a sort of "fishing expedition." Anyway, this one was nominated and will be running for office in May. She may be asked to fill out a questionnaire containing, among other things, when she was born and where.

Lincoln surely is a dog city. A reporter on the Journal used up a quarter of a page, with art, to describe a couple of beasties whose hair is so long over their eyes they can't even see a cat, although mebbe they smell 'em. Lincoln and Omaha pay more attention to dogs than they do to the neglected kids who need more attention than they're getting—J.H.S.

COMMUNITY CHATTER

IT MAY BE OF INTEREST TO KNOW, BECAUSE Nebraska City has become somewhat of a grain storage center, that since 1950 the space eligible for government grain storage has tripled — at government urging'

Of the 4 5 billion bushel capacity of the private grain storage business, 80 per cent is under contract to Uncle Sam, --at an average of 16 5 cents per bushel

The grain storage business has been virtually nationalized without anyone complaining about it, and at a cost of a billion dollars a year

THE billion a year storage cost for government owned grain is a sixth of the Department of Agriculture's annual budget It far exceeds federal spending by such departments as State, Labor, Justice or Commerce

The grain storage business is managed by the CCC which has 6,300 workers scattered about the country

The freight bill of the Commodity Credit Corporation is around $210 million a year

STORING grain for Uncle Sam is not without its hazards Within the past five years 13 private storage people have been sent to jail when they couldn't produce the government's grain A claim for a million dollars is to be filed against an Illinois warehouse firm for an alleged shortage of 650,000 bushels of grain

ABOUT 12,000 private elevator owners share in the nearly half billion dollars paid to these people by the government The rest of the grain is stored in government owned containers, on farms and in several hundred anchored liberty ships The largest beneficiaries of the program are Cargill, Archer Daniel Midland Continental Grain Co and Unity Equity Co Each of these receives about $500,000 a month or more

---

"On the S. S Matthew Sheehan alone is stored enough Federal wheat to make two ordinary slices of bread for every man, woman and child in the 49 states The grain stored in the total James River fleet converted to flour, would provide each person in the U S with seven full loaves of bread Completion of this spring's wheat takeover will bring the nation wide Federal inventory to just under 1 3 billion bushels which would produce a staggering 432 loaves per person That would be enough bread to last everybody five years at current comsumption rates

"Agriculture Department officials predict that by next June 30, the inventory of Federally owned commodities will be worth a record $6 8 billion up from $5 1 billion at last count on February 28 and $5 5 billion at the end of June last year And the forecast for mid 1960, after takeover of this year's still to be harvested wheat crop is for an inventory valued at $9 billion"

KIDS AREN'T MORE LAZY, THEY JUST DO LESS NOW

What makes kids today so lazy? asks one of my older readers She complains "I've just returned from visiting my son His children, ages 12 15 and 17, don't do anything but have a good time Neither do their friends

"I honestly don't see how their parents manage without any help at all from their children"

Children have always been naturally lazy Even great-great-grandpa as a boy probably never looked around for work to do

He did his chores because parents used to hold to the theory that a family was a working unit with each member being responsible for his share of the jobs to be done

But somehow modern parents have given up that idea Now all they want is for their children to be happy and well adjusted

So if Junior grumbles about mowing the lawn and Sis says none of the other girls have to do the dinner dishes, Pop gets behind the lawn mower and Mom heads from the dryer table to the kitchen sink -- while Junior goes cruising around in the family car and Sis gets on the telephone until the dishes are done

The old-fashioned idea was that a kid could go out and have fun after he did his chores and if he wasn't needed for any extra jobs

Now the fun comes first and the chores naturally don't get done

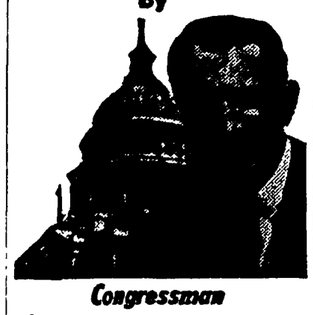

So let's not blame the kids for being lazy They're just doing what comes naturally to kids as little as possible

And it will be that way until parents go back to the old-fashioned idea of work first play later

It is we who are encouraging them to believe that nothing is as important as having fun

WASHINGTON D C (Special)—Testimony of top defense leaders paints this picture of our diverse missile program

The Atlas 5 500-mile intercontinental ballastic missile has passed its tests and is in production Atlas missiles will be based in the Omaha and Lincoln areas

The Hound-Dog air-to-ground missile designed for use on a B 52 intercontinental jet bomber is approaching production

The Jupiter short-range missile will be based in Europe next year

The Minuteman 5 5/0-mile intercontinental solid propellant missile is progressing on an accelerated program

The Polaris solid fuel 1,500-mile ballistic missile is being placed on five submarines and work will start shortly on the sixth — even more advanced in design

The Thor 1 500-mile missile is stationed in England now

This program is costly but under present world conditions it is essential

---

I was selected to take charge of the business on the floor of the House last week during the absence of the minority leader I enjoyed the experience and feel I gained additional understanding of the complexities of Congress through my work in this position

The exploding of atom bombs 300 miles in the air by this country last summer is believed to hold the key to future defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles. The scientist responsible for this achievement is Nicholas Christofilos born in Boston of Greek parents who spent most of his childhood in Greece until after World War II

Whenever the president or king of a foreign country visits Washington the streets on which his motorcade travels are lined with flags -- American District of Columbia and that of the country the visitor represents Each light pole has a set of three flags

Bids are asked of flag manufacturers by a citizens committee several weeks before the guest is due to arrive Four hundred 3 by-4-foot flags four big 15-by-25 foot flags and 1 000 small flags are purchased the latter for persons lining the curb to wave

Cost of the flags used during the visit of the Brazilian president was $1 500 while cost of El Salvador flags was $2 766 This is because the El Salvador flag has an intricate seal on it

Ordinarily the foreign flags are then given to the embassy of the country concerned but souvenir hunters frequently make off with most of them

Cleaning fluid explosion kills

LINCOLN (UPI) — A Lincoln woman died Sunday of burns suffered in an explosion and fire that rocked their basement Saturday

Mrs Mary Hardnock about 40 died as the result of burns which covered her entire body

Her husband Archie about 40 suffered burns over his hands and the upper part of his body and was in fair condition

Lincoln firemen said the explosion apparently resulted when fumes from a can of cleaning fluid were ignited by a pilot light from a water heater or a furnace

Mr and Mrs Hardnock were in the basement preparing to lay asphalt tile and a son Walter II was upstairs and a daughter Sharon II was at a neighbor's house

Hardnock said after the explosion flames spread over the entire basement and set his wife's clothes afire

Window broken on new addition

A window on the east side of the new addition to Historical Hall the park board building at Fifth and Central was damaged last week by someone apparently trying to get in police officers reported

The frame of the window was broken Virgil Pitstick, park board chairman and Ken Henry, said

Johnson babies, born on same day

A son and daughter were born at St. Mary's hospital on the same day both tagged Johnson, but they are not related

Mr and Mrs Richard P Johnson of Plattsmouth became parents of a daughter, and Mr and Mrs Edward Johnson, of Percival were the proud parents of a son.

Herter has had long career in services of state, nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Christian A Herter, new secretary of state, is a Paris-born Bostonian with a bow tie who believes the United States must pursue "a positive approach which accepts competition and danger as elements of survival"

The 64-year-old successor to John Foster Dulles sounded this theme at West Point, N Y, on Dec. 3 in his last major speech before taking over in February as acting secretary for cancer-stricken Dulles

Herter, a lanky six and a half-footer who is hobbled by arthritis has been accumulating stature for his new job since he began a successful diplomatic - political career at age 22 in World War I

In the 43 years since he became an attache at the U S Embassy in Berlin in 1916, Herter

--Was accused momentarily by German officers in World War I of being an American spy He diplomatically talked his way out of the misunderstanding

--At age 22, served as acting U S minister to Belgium when illness in embassy ranks left him top man on the spot in 1917

After the 1918 armistice, detected and relayed to the State Department evidence that beaten Germany was on he verge of going Communist His report opened the door for emergency shipments of food to the German people that ended that danger

Helped Herbert Hoover as secretary of the American peace mission later served as Hoover's personal assistant when the ex-president was commerce secretary in the Coolidge cabinet

Was speaker of the Massachusetts Legislature, then served in the U S House of Representatives from 1944 through 1952

--Served two terms as governor of Massachusetts

Became the embarrassed subject of an unwanted Stop Nixon vice presidential boom launched in 1956 by Harold E Stassen before the Republican National Convention Herter disavowed Stassen's drive to win him the vice presidential nomination and personally nominated Nixon as Eisenhower's running mate

For all his Bostonian background and bearing Herter is not a Beantown brahmin

He was born in Paris on March 28, 1895, just next to the Luxembourg Gardens in Paris. His parents were expatriate artists of the Henry James type with backgrounds of wealth. His German immigrant grandfather who came here in 1848 and had established himself in Texas and New York rather than Back Bay

When he was nine, Herter was brought to this country by his uncle, head of Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons. Eleven years later, he was graduated from Harvard, cum laude, and had ambitions to be an architect.

A friend sold him on diplomacy at a 1916 class reunion and his career of government service was underway

Students of the Nebraska School for the Blind should drop a note to the editors of the Nebraska Education News for a headline which certainly doesn't meet with the approval of any of the students as we know The headline Blind School Bill Revived Advanced

John Schumacher pro golfer and Nebraska C Mr Golf said about $1 400 left in the treasury from the old country club which many golfers wish was in operation today has been expended on operations of Steinhart park course Understand a program is under way to construct a new golf shop equipped with showers and lockers on or near the park The park board purchased about $1 000 worth of new equipment this year and $250 of the old country club's douch was used to help foot the bill Vasil Pitstick park board member said about $500 was used in constructing a bridge near the number 4 tee some time ago

Finances—

Despite increasing receipts for the course the park board has put in about $700 The golf course is in direct contrast to the operations of the swimming pool according to Mr Pitstick who says enough money was left over from swim receipts last year to just about meet expenses to ready the pool for this season

The park board receives about $14 000 a year to operate Steinhart park The pool however is self-supporting enough that its profits pay maintenance costs Which by the way reminds me Nebraska City, we like to brag has about the best dad burned swimming pool in the state of Nebraska (The pool will open about Memorial Day)

As a matter of fact T A Filipi, head of the state sanitation department who frowns on the sand we have around the pool's edges spreads the word about the very fine pool we have Clarence Vigen, another member of park board says The sand around the pool does not cause any unsanitary conditions, Mr Vigen contends

Incidentally, Nebraska City's beautiful pool is 20 years old betcha didn't know that!
