

"Mem" is a late sleeper The elephant with the South Eighth street circus showing in Nebraska City Monday and Tuesday for the kiddies seems to be enjoying the cool of the morning just outside the News-Press office. After standing all day and being ogled at by hundreds she earned a little rest. The hard pavement didn't seem to bother the pachyderm in the least.

State board gives okay to money plan

LINCOLN (UPI)—The state Health Board has approved the Nebraska plan for distribution of federal hospital improvement funds.

According to the plan, the state is divided into 33 sections by indicating the existing hospitals and their relation to others throughout the state.

The plan will now be submitted to the U.S. Public Health Service for final approval.

The buck Ends here . . . .

Well son of a gun! Just when law enforcement was getting along fine handling criminal cases, Attorney General Clarence Meyer says that stories on criminal proceedings must be limited else they might wind up like the Doctor Sam Case, once convicted of murdering his wife and now to be retried.

Rather than bow to the high court and let it go at that, Mr Meyer and all prosecuting attorneys should straighten their backs and work toward laws favorable to law enforcement.

This discrimination bit is about to eat up the nation.

And speaking of "discrimination". . . NOTICE to all milkmen. . . . I bought a cow.

We'll miss her

We're going to miss Betty Peterson Sharp as the Otoe county attorney, but we are looking forward to working with the new attorney, Richard Hoch who won the primary and at present will have the job in January.

Mrs Sharp did not seek re-election for another four-year term and will step down as the "law" in Otoe county at the end of this year.

+ + + + +

If ever there was any doubt about woman handling the job of county attorney, Mrs Sharp has removed all skepticism. After working with her for several years, I'm confident she could also handle the sheriff and county judge jobs competently.

+ + + +

Off the record they say. . . . Howard Baltensperger may (or may not?) get a "temporary" job as postmaster in Nebraska City. The boys (excuse me, Nellie) or girls must take tests to make it look like a fired up civil service opportunity, then the appointment will follow from Washington. . . . Don Holtz will NOT leave Nebraska City. Mr Holtz told the school board he turned down a move offer from the company to stay at home. . . . Understand First Lt. Frank Malzer, Company A commander, won't be a "louie" very long. Those captain bars are coming his way for an early promotion.

Lincoln, Omaha crime increases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation released a report today showing that crime continues on the increase in Nebraska's two largest cities.

The report — covering a period from January through March—indicated Lincoln showed increases in each of the categories of crimes listed compared to the same period a year ago. Omaha showed decreases in two categories.

The statistics (with 1965 figures in parentheses):

Lincoln — Murder, non-negligent manslaughter 1 (0); forcible rape 4 (3); robbery 5 (2); aggravated assault 29 (14); burglary - breaking or entering 118 (115); larceny of over $50 142(102); auto theft 37 (23).

Omaha — Murder, non-negligent manslaughter 3 (4); forcible rape 9 (6); robbery 41 (34); aggravated assault 10 (9); burglary-breaking or entering 713 (610); larceny of over $50 145 (231); auto theft 419 (331).

Graham suggests prayer at meeting

LONDON (UPI) —Dr. Billy Graham, in a sermon to 21,100 persons Monday night, suggested that world leaders pray together before opening their conferences.

"Then they would approach the conference table with a totally new perspective and attitude," the North Carolina evangelist predicted.

"I am convinced that great . . . problems . . . can be solved by the use of spiritual weapons.

"Some of our problems today are insolvable," he said. "If they are ever to be solved, God will have to do it."

The attendance figure Monday night raised to 359,131 the number of persons who have been to Earl's Court Arena to see Graham in his month-long "crusade" which began here June 1.

A spokesman for the Graham organization said 1,129 persons Monday night made "decisions for Christ," raising to 14,500 the number who have done so in the campaign so far.

Attorney to argue state loyalty oath

LINCOLN (UPI) — A Lincoln lawyer says he will be ready to argue the constitutionality of Nebraska's loyalty oath in about a month.

Patrick W. Healey, who has submitted a suit challenging the oath on behalf of Mrs. George Spangler, 22, said he expects the trial in the case to start about then.

Mrs. Spangler was fired from the University of Nebraska staff last month for refusing to sign the oath, which she alleges is vague and denies freedom of expression, assembly and association.

State law requires all employes to swear to uphold the state and federal constitutions and that they do not belong to groups aovocating the violent overthrow of the government.

Mrs. Spangler has been quoted as saying she would not swear to the oath because "My disbelief in God would make signing hypocritical."

She seeks back pay from the university.

Parking ticket on Lynda Bird's car

NEW YORK (UPI) —A $15 parking ticket issued to the car Lynda Bird Johnson used on her most recent New York shopping trip remained unpaid Monday, police reported.

Payment was due on June 13.

The President's oldest daughter was using a courtesy car from the Ford Motor Co. It was illegally parked outside a French restaurant June 2 when ticketed by a patrolman who was apparently unaware the vehicle was being used by Lynda Bird. A secret serviceman —driver of the car — pocketed the ticket before she saw it.

A Ford spokesman said in effect that responsibility for parking tickets lies with the users of the cars, which the company lends to visiting dignitaries as a courtesy gesture.

It was recently revealed that more than half of the parking tickets issued in New York City annually remain unpaid.

Over $7,000 is taken in holdup

OMAHA (UPI) — A neatly dressed armed robber held up the Occidental Savings and Loan Association in the Crossroads Shopping Center Monday afternoon and fled with an estimated $7,000 to $10,000.

Police said the man, about 35, fled east from the shopping center. He was armed with a blue steel revolver.

The money—in denominations of $5, $10, $20 and $50—was demanded from teller Susan Gillet, who said the man approached her window while she was talking on the telephone.

He pulled a revolver from a pocket of his suit coat and then demanded, "Put all the bills in here," as he pushed forward a green paper sack.

The holdup man was described as white, 5-10 or 5-11, of slender build, black hair and tan complexion.

He wore a brown suit, white shirt, dark tie and straw hat.

Shortly after the holdup there were reports that a white and blue or white and black station wagon sped from the vicinity of the Crossroads at a high rate of speed. There were two white males in the station wagon.

James F. Svoboda, assistant vice president of the savings and loan company, made the loss estimate.

Nursing home clause needed

LINCOLN (UPI) — Two Omaha senators and the Douglas County Welfare Director Monday urged the State Health Board to lift from inclusion 13 nursing homes covered by new medical facility regulations authorized by the 1965 legislature.

Sen. William Skarda said a so-called "grandfather's clause" should be included in the regulations, which have not yet gone into effect due to an attorney's general opinion that they are unenforceable.

The regulations spelled out that the nursing homes would have to improve their toilets and corridors in order to remain licensed by the state.

State Health Director Dr. E.A. Rogers said the regulations are being revised and should be corrected for implementation by 1967.

Skarda said the existing facilities at the time the regulations do become operative should be excluded from these two particular points.

He said some are now unable to meet the demands of the stiff regulations, but could do so at a later date, which would bring them up to standard.

Douglas County Welfare Director Carl Peterson said if the regulations are met it will work a hardship on the nursing homes.

He said the cost of care resulting from the improvements would hike care costs, which the patients would have to pay.

However, he added, that if the homes do not meet the regulations, they would be shut down and many patients would be turned out with no place to go.

Douglas County Commissioner Ralph Hefflinger agreed. He said, "If some of the homes are closed we're going to find ourselves with a problem."

Sen. Eugene Mahoney said Douglas County was trying to provide nursing homes for as many people as it could.

"If these regulations are enforced we'll be turning out literally hundreds," he said.

The health board said it would take into consideration the plea while it is revising the regulations.

Viet war hero gets new orders

PLEIKU, Viet Nam (UPI) — Capt. William (Bill) Carpenter, hero of the recent Kontum jungle fighting, said today he is "reluctantly" becoming an aide to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam.

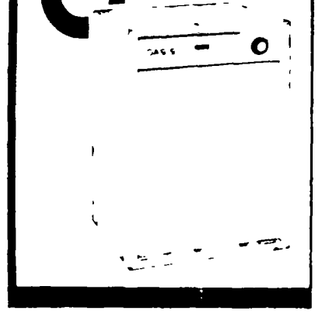

Carpenter, 28, who called in a fiery napalm attack on his own company to fend off Communist attackers, said he would rather stay in the field fighting.

"If they gave me a choice, I wouldn't accept the job, but it is an order and I will have to accept," the paratroop officer said.

Carpenter, who won a Silver Star for his heroism, said he was told to report in July in Saigon for his new post.

The Monroe, N.Y., former West Point football "lonesome end" star came to Pleiku with nine other U.S. war heroes to receive Vietnamese decorations.
