Three cars stolen in city Friday

Deputy Sheriff Earl Frakes went to Grand Island Saturday to pick up three boys who allegedly had stolen a car belonging to Elmer Shear, 1502 First Corso. Shear also went with Deputy Frakes to drive the car back to Nebraska City.

Mrs Shear had reported to police that her car had been stolen from the V-Lanes Friday night.

The state patrol was notified and at 1:50 Saturday morning the car was recovered at Grand Island. There were three teenaged Nebraska City youths, aged 16, 15 and 14 in the car when apprehended.

County Attorney Richard Hoch said Saturday that juvenile delinquency charges would probably be filed against the three youths.

Police received two other reports of stolen cars Friday.

Dwaine Rainey reported that his mother's car had been stolen from the parking lot at Morton House Kitchens. The car was found later at the southside of the 13th Street bridge in the ditch.

Mrs Myron Henner reported her car had been stolen. It was recovered at 18th Street and Fourth Corso.

Police investigate two car accidents

Two two-car accidents occurred Friday.

Two cars collided between Central Avenue and First Corso on Seventh Street. Jacki L. Nelson 1821 Fourth Avenue was driving north on Seventh Street. Gayle Farson, 306 North 10th Street, was backing from the east curb on Seventh Street.

Two cars collided at the intersection of 11th Street and Central Avenue. Lola M. Schneider, 622 First Avenue, was driving west turning south when her car came in contact with a car driven by G.L. Hunt, 512 North 15th Street, who was driving east turning south.

Order filed giving judgment for land

Mr and Mrs Clarence Dively will receive $14,000 for land taken by the Ziegler Watershed Conservancy.

District Judge Walter Smith signed an order at Otoe county courthouse Friday which stated that County Judge George Stanley be authorized to pay that amount to the plaintiffs with the balance of the deposit to be returned to the defendant.

Ziegler took the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 25-8-10.

The defendants were also instructed to build a fence between the described real estate and the remainder of the plaintiff's tract.

The buck Ends here . . . .

By Ivan D. E. Beaumont

The school board voted to accept free engineering services rather than try to stick the architects with the muggy and sticky room situation at Senior High.

Sounds like the taxpayers are the ones who got stuck.

+ + + + +

There's a movement afoot to give Nebraska City ambulance service.

Of course the town does have a rescue squad and that came as a necessity when three mortuaries "closed shop" on their ambulance businesses all at the same time.

The question of providing ambulance service is considerably different from the rescue squad service.

The difference—point blank—is money.

Collections are pretty sure for ambulance cases, but payment for most of the bloody emergencies for the volunteer rescue squadsmen are slow in coming, if they are ever made.

+ + + + +

There is some indication that one of the morticians may be interested in providing ambulance service, and according to Commissioner Ed Ransdell in a barber shop interview, the man should receive the support of the community to help solve a community need.

+ + + + +

To go even further, the City may have to consider some sort of a dollar subsidy to keep an ambulance service in business.

Sounds like crude conversation, but podner, it's a fact of life.

+ + + + +

Just about the time my stomach was getting back to normal after the Thanksgiving dinner, I read about rushing around for Christmas.

This has been a pokey year for me. . . my two-wheel charcoal grill is still outside (I did manage to put away the picnic table last Sunday) and I'm not even "with it" for Christmas. And here it is December 1 and less than three weeks before the big day is here.

+ + + + +

A man stopped in the other day to say that Denny McLain the hotshot baseball star for the Detroit Tigers, will appear in Beatrice in a few weeks.

McLain will put on an organ concert. Understand there is something of a rift involved because the Jaycees, the ticket-sellers, are promoting that particular brand of music instrument.

Oh, the poor Jaycees. They seem to get in trouble in every town. . . but then again, at least it shows they aren't sitting on their hands.

+ + + + +

The teenagers in town stirred a few readers with the advertisement a few weeks ago about the need for a new pool and other recreational improvements.

Since then, they have tried to drum additional interest by publishing opinions in the safety valve column, but not with too much luck.

Seems a shame that their letter-writing efforts go without much attention.

Someday, and sooner than most of us realize, they are going to make the decisions in our town. They would have had a voice sooner if the voters in the state would have lowered the voting age to 19 years.

I'm not a gambling man, but I was sure ready to bet my shirt, that would have carried at the polls.

I was disappointed with the final vote. Of course I was disappointed with the proposition in the first place. I'd just as soon 18 year olds be given the right to vote.

'Course I'm kinda different in my thinking in the first place. . . I go for things like electricity, running water, cars, shopping centers, malls and color TV.

Times really have changed. It used to be that the cooking was done inside and the toilet was outside. Now, the toilet is inside and we do the cooking outside. . guess I'll never understand the New Generation.

DISTRICT COURT

Gilbert V. Runkles vs. Betty A. Runkles, divorce, plaintiff granted 30 days to file amended petition, council for plaintiff, Richard Hoch, granted leave to withdraw as attorney for plaintiff.

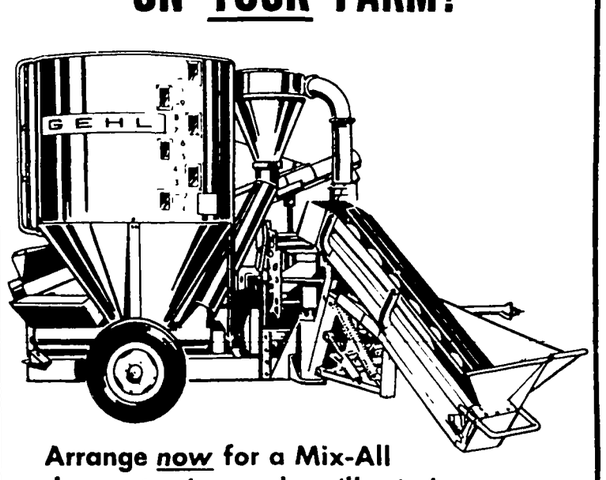

Linda Ann Bolles vs. Darrell W. Bolles, divorce, hearing set for January 3 at 10 a.m. on portion of original decree conditionally assigning personal property to the defendant.

Attorney Richard Hoch representing the state in the case vs. Gary Barrett appeared before court with Clayton Shrout of the United Bonding Insurance Company of Indianapolis, Indiana. Barrett was recently sentenced to five years in the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex for uttering a forged instrument.

Barrett failed to waive extradition and the county had to go through extradition proceedings to bring Barrett to Nebraska City for sentencing. The judge had previously ordered Barrett's $3,000 bond forfeited. Shrout argued that $3,000 was too much to withhold as expenses to the county and asked that some of the money be returned to the company.

No action was taken since Judge Smith took the matter under advisement.
