Origin of Salute

One theory about the origin of the 21-gun salute maintains that the 21 guns commemorate the year 1776, the year of America's Declaration of Independence. Thus, shots are supposedly sometimes fired in the sequence of one, seven, seven, six.

Foreign lamb on the market

ON THE FARM FRONT
(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)
By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American housewives are finding more foreign-produced lamb than ever at retail meat counters this year. Government experts are suggesting moves to ease the competition between domestic and foreign producers.

Officials are reluctant to talk of quotas or other moves to cut back lamb imports. But an Agriculture Department spokesman disclosed, in a speech prepared for delivery late Thursday in Denver, Colo., that the department hopes to promote agreements on "more orderly" trade conditions.

Donald M. Rubel, assistant administrator of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service, said it plans to sponsor early next year a meeting between U.S. producers and spokesmen from the New Zealand and Australian meat boards—the major lamb exporters.

"We hope this meeting will provide the basis for arriving at a more orderly trade in imports of lamb, and a more coordinated marketing of domestic and import lamb in the United States," Rubel said. The meeting, Rubel said, might discuss smoothing out the seasonal flow of imports, which were concentrated in 1968 in the final two months of the year. The rush brought protests from many American producers.

Rubel aid producers on both sides may discuss aiming more imports away from the New York - New England areas, the domestic producers' traditional major markets.

Rubel, in the speech to the National Lamb Feeders Association, said lamb imports for the first 10 months of 1969 jumped to 36.7 million pounds compared with 14.5 million pounds a year earlier.

But government officials see little grounds for supporting moves like a recent attempt in Congress to legislate a lamb import quota.

The buck Ends here . . . .

The University of Nebraska football team should display one of its more glorious trompings of the year against Georgia in the Sun Bowl December 20.

Georgia lost its season finale 0-6 to Georgia Tech and a suggestion that the losers be pulled from bowl competition indicates a faltering team in the eyes of observers.

Husker Coach Bob Devaney is not known for "running up the score" despite the enthusiasm of many of his fans,

So, if the Georgia team is as poor as some think, then Devaney's bench will get a work out and you'll see a lot of new numbers.

I had planned on a comfortable hour of Red Skelton and the Mills Brothers the other night, but that was shredded when they flashed a special on the tube.

And the evening was even more interesting — Billy Graham spoke to the youth of Anaheim, California.

Mr Graham's talks are always inspiring. His organization for the crusades is exacting and he seems to get to his audience.

He always seems to be well informed on current events and ties that in with the Bible which he holds in his hand and refers to consistently.

As he says over and over, "you've got to tell it like it is,"

The sudden death of Mrs Roger (Cheryl) Warren was a jolt at the News-Press.

Cheryl came to us shortly after high school and worked in several departments in the efficient and versatile manner in which we learned to appreciate.

She was also one of our best news tippers.

When she telephoned at 2 a.m., to report an ambulance or other emergency, we grabbed a camera and ran. She enjoyed the news department and we benefited from her interest in her job.

The loss of this fine young mother and co-worker is felt here at the News-Press.

If conversation is any indication, the annual athletic banquet sponsored by the Pioneer Boosters and Optimist clubs will be more exciting for sports fans than they've seen at such banquets in some time.

These boys are talking about speakers from the Green Bay Packers and you-know-who from the Chicago Bears and even the fireball hisself, Vince Gibson, fiery coach of the Kansas State football squad whose southern drawl is nothing but Alabamian.

They tell me we are going to see more of the low fat milk. Some say it is better for your body because there is less chance of heart failure.

Skimmed milk used to be the waste product of farmers. We prepared a mixture using skimmed milk for our Duroc hogs and considered the feeding program one of the best.

Skimmed milk today is a big product and it is consumed in many homes, ours included. I have to confess that I blow the good health plan all to pieces because one of my favorites is cold milk and sour cream chocolate cake.

There's a new type engine now in production and the possibility of it being used in American made cars is becoming apparent.

Canada is using the "rotary" engine in its economy car which compares in size with a Chevy II or an early Mustang. The engine is rated at 120 h.p.

The principal feature of the engine, aside of hopefully less cost and maintenance, is combustion at both ends of the stroke. The quietness of the motor was another feature.

Mebbe the electrics won't return after all.

Spiro Agnew is right.

We news people do twist or withold the news and today is one of those occasions.

A happy Nebraska City couple announced the other day they are expecting an addition to the family and they wanted to share the happiness of the moment with friends.

"But don't put it in the paper," his wife said.

To which we agreed.

Besides you wouldn't want to know anyway.

After all, you've probably known the couple for a long time; you know they have been in business many years and are active in church and civic clubs (yup, even bridge) and they have a handsome family of three children.

So, you see we wouldn't gain any "first with the news" 'cause you probably aren't interested any way. . . .
