Search is on for new leader

OMAHA, Neb (AP) — The search for a new chancellor for the University of Nebraska at Omaha is reported to be back where it started four months ago

The Omaha World-Herald reported Friday that the post apparently will not be filled from the list of six top choices of a 15-member nominating committee And the next chancellor probably won't come from the NU system

Committee Chairman H. Carl Camp, associate professor of political science at UNO, has confirmed that the search is still under way.

The committee submitted its list of six names to President D B Varner and the Board of Regents several weeks ago. The names have not been made public Camp said "one Nebraskan" was on the list

Sources close to the university believe that "one Nebraskan" was Dr John V Blackwell, who has been serving as interim chancellor since August

Camp said Varner told the committee that "they have not been able to attract anyone "

Group says keep officers

LINCOLN, Neb (AP) — Lincoln's Human Rights Commission, in a voluminous report on its investigation into a complaint of police brutality, has reported there was overreaction and unnecessary force, but does not recommend that any police officer be fired or suspended

The report, long awaited locally, dealt with the complaint of Cleveland Randolph, 18, that he was mishandled when jailed last Oct 24

The report said Officer William Beave, who was jailer at the time, struck Randolph two to seven times in the area of the abdomen and said "such overreation is a serious breach of acceptable police conduct "

The report said officers are given little training in self defense and restraint of hostile individuals, and recommended extensive practical training

Beave could not be reached for comment

Randolph was lodged in jail on two municipal court warrants issued for failure to appear on outstanding bicycle citations During the booking procedure, a scuffle developed involving Beave and other officers

Several police officials, including Chief Joe Carroll, are blamed in the report for "lack of established written procedure from the intake of Mr Randolph through the specific incident which spawned this complaint "

Omaha man victim of monoxide poisoning

OMAHA, Neb (AP)—Daniel S Fulkerson, 29, of Omaha, was found dead in the garage of his home Friday, the apparent victim of carbon monoxide poisoning, the Douglas County sheriff's office said

The body was found on the floor of the closed garage by his wife, deputies said. The motor of the car was running. Deputies said Fulkerson apparently had been working on the car

They said the car's air cleaner had been removed and a tool box and tools were found on the floor of the garage.

Mrs Fulkerson and her yearold son were listed in satisfactory condition in an Omaha hospital after becoming ill when fumes escaped from the adjoining garage into the house

The Buck Ends Here

By IVAN D.E. BEAUMONT

A lot of people I know get spring fever

I get car fever, boat fever, pickup truck fever, camper fever and motor home fever. .but spring fever? Never bothers me

I remember when the late Ed Harshbarger wanted to sell me his jo-boat with a cabin, motor, trailer, the works. I huffed and puffed on that for some time before turning it down. The female members of the family weren't too hot on that kind of recreation

I kinda got the hots again when I rode to Omaha one Sunday morning with Bill Jordan and his father-in-law, Merle Leeper

They brought back a 17 foot boat that seemed so large and heavy on that trailer, that had it not been for my great sea experiences, I would have advised them it would never float.

+ + + + +

The real reason I didn't say anything is because I didn't want to walk back to Nebraska City.

Bill and I had a whale of a time with Merle. He was so anxious to get that boat in the water that Bill tromped on the accelerator and I locked the doors as we passed Merritt Beach and crossed the Platte

The rest of the way home was easy. .so long as there was no water in the drainage ditches

Meanwhile back at Johnny Bando's . . He had a camper rig on the lot last year that was a real jewel It had a big "B" painted on the side I don't know if that meant Bando, Beaumont or The Buck Ends Here, but I kicked the tires, bounced in the seats, peeked in all the drawers and sniffled when a buyer took it away

+ + + + +

One of the neatest rigs we've seen is parked at Glen Cohn's home It's one of those "flip tops" that fold open and out to sleep six or eight

We borrowed Bus Wymore's tent trailer which is similar to the flip tops and took our family on its first camping trip last summer to Lake Burchard (We caught a couple fish that Neal Browne missed)

So, I guess it's fair to assume, that camping equipment has been our latest fever

And on to the winter camper shows

+ + + + +

"Zowie! Wham bam! Hot dang! Lookit that rig It's got sleeping gear for six, shower, 'comfort' facilities, will wheel down the road at 60 per and is only lebenty leven hundred dollars "

I got shot down on that one when the chief cook asked·

"Well, can we afford a house and that thing, too?"

Actually, the camper shows are really great You compliment the people with the displays by taking a few moments to look over their merchandise and pick up a brochure

The larger shows also have evening entertainment and you should take the whole family They'll get just as much a bang out of camping equipment as you will the stage shows.

There's more to the shows than camping equipment Lakeside properties are also displayed in brochures by the well-groomed salesmen and saleswomen behind the counters

+ + + + +

There are also mini-bikes, snowmobiles, the six wheeled vehicles and the new three-wheelers.

At one display, a dealer in camping gear offered "A mini-bike with every sale during the show "

Johnny Bando must be one of the hardest working dealers in this area because we always see him and his equipment in the display areas

And speaking of displays, he has a map appropriately placed that has each Bando sale broadly marked It's a pretty good piece of sales display and easily tells his visitors of his sales territory

+ + + + +

There was a time when I had horse fever Jerry Hall got me started in square dancing and was trying to get me into a saddle

If you don't know Jerry Hall, you're missing knowing a friend

And if you know Jerry, then you know his good humor Well, you can imagine his laughter the first time I mounted his pony. I don't recall whether she was "Molly," "Stinger," or "Chief Sitting Bull With Heap Big Burr Up Back," but I showed off a little, let out a famous Indian war whoop and away we went

+ + + + +

Really, I was in control of the situation all the time It's just that I hadn't set which time was mine and which time was the pony's

The pony was nothing like Topsy, the Shetland that transported my three brothers, two sisters and me down in Kansas Jerry assured me, "oh, that's Bev's mare and she's as gentle as a cat "

Trouble was he never said whether he meant pussy cat or Bobcat

Well, to wrap up this tale of truth, I gave up on the "nice horsey," and "whoa," bit and let loose with a few "sons," and the pony seemed to understand .of course, that barbed wire fence did help

Meanwhile, back at the corral, they had to call the rescue squad for Jerry

Don Chapin said Jerry laughed so hard, he fell off his horse and swallowed his Sears credit card

Little Bucks —

Whatever happened to Dennis Claridge, the Husker quarterback who led Nebraska to an Orange Bowl victory?

The bespectacled quarterback is a dentist and we understand he is or very soon will be associated with Dr. Thomas Ludwig, Lincoln, who has an office above the Federal Savings and Loan building in Nebraska City

Perhaps one of our favorite football stars will return to Nebraska City occasionally If he does, you can bet your best pair of boots Garry Ailes will be there to say hello.

Advises monthly check on grains

Farmers having grain stored on the farm are reminded to check the quality and quantity at least once a month

According to Herman F Minderman, county executive director of the ASCS Office in Syracuse changes in air tempature and humidity, snow blown into bins and cribs can increase deterioration of farm stored grain especially that harvested early or with high moisture content

Regular inspection will provide an earlier indication of grain deterioration and also detect any possible theft if it has occurred If you find grain under loan is going out of condition or theft has occurred this office should be notified immediately.

Minderman pointed out another important matter sometimes overlooked by producers with grain under CCC price support loans is that the county office must be notified prior to removing from or adding to a bin or crib containing grain under CCC loan. Producers' failure to accept this responsibility will result in calling all outstanding loans and loss of any further farm stored loan privileges.

Support a measure against all pollutors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LINCOLN, Neb (AP) — Environmentalists voiced their support of a measure that would give citizens a method to force state action against polluters

The bill, now before the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee, met opposition from farm groups.

Agricultural interests say the bill would subject their industry to unwarranted harassment.

The Constitutional Revision Committee heard testimony on legislation that would put a constitutional amendment before voters to permit deficit spending

Oponents to the measure, that would allow issuance of up to $20 million in state bonds for new penal facilities, say the action is premature.

Present installations, such as Peru State College and Ashland military facilities, among others, could be converted into penal installations criticis said

The Agriculture and Recreation Committee is holding a bill that would require the State Oil and Water Conservation Commission to establish a comphrensive program for land use in the state

Several County representatives spoke against the bill, saying no single agency could devise a plan to satisfy all needs

The interim study committee on the state water plan proposed the measure saying it stems from the chance of federal intervention

The Public Works Committee took no action on a bill that would prohibit cable television installations from interfering with existing utilities cables

Cable t-v spokesmen questioned the need for the measure, but representatives of several power districts supported the measure

Meanwhile, a bill that would require massive state aid to education won a tentative Unicameral endorsement, advancing from the on a 25-16 vote

The bill would put a constitutional amendment before voters in November The amendment would require the state to pay salaries of all school teachers and employes in public elementary and secondary schools

Kelley puts on the brakes

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Dr J Whitney Kelley said that he and another private psychiatrist "put the brakes" on some initial recommendations by the Lincoln Regional Center staff to remove many restrictions upon Richard Guetling

A petition now before the Douglas County District Court, which must approve any change in Guetling's security status, would allow some easing of restrictions, but not as many as the center staff originally proposed, Dr Kelly said.

Dr Kelley said he resented an "implication" that he and Dr Beverley Mead, the other private psychiatrist, were solely responsible for the final recommendations

The center's staff, including two state psychiatrists, also was involved, Dr Kelley said

Guetling, who was gudged a sexual psychopath in 1968, has been held in a high security area since a 1969 escape during which he came to Omaha, allegedly raped a 15-year-old girl and then returned voluntarily to the center

Dr Robert Osborne, acting director of the center, said Friday that the recommendations before the court would, if approved, allow Guetling to be returned to a ward and to have the same supervised ground privileges as other ward members

The staff is not now recommending that Guetling be allowed to visit Omaha Under supervision of his mother, as staff psychiatrists first proposed and to which Dr Kelley objected, Dr Osborne said
