Alcoholism and cirrhosis linked

BOSTON (AP) - Researchers say they have directly linked alcoholism and cirrhosis refuting some theories that the liver disease is related to poor nutrition instead of drinking

In what they described as the first long-range alcohol study with advanced primates, baboons, the researchers said diet is not a primary factor in the progressive degeneration of an alcoholic's liver

"We have shown that chronic alcohol consumption in the baboon, in the absence of nutritional deficiencies, is hepatotoxic and produces all the stages of liver disease clinically associated with chronic alcoholism in man," they said.

Decorative plates could finance event

LINCOLN, Neb (AP) — Selling decorative front-end license plates for Nebraska vehicles could be a way of financing the state's participation in the national bicenitennial celebration in 1976, in the view of Secretary of State Allen Beermann

He said he will propose such a plan to the Nebraska Bicentennial Commission Friday

A bill in the Legislature would require only one license plate per vehicle Beermann said the decorative plate could serve to replace the void

Beermann said Pennsylvania has sold 40,000 decorative plates to raise bicentennial money

The Buck Ends Here
By IVAN D E BEAUMONT

Otoe County Sheriff Russ Seals told Optimists a great deal about the job as a law enforcement officer the other day and he told the group about what he called "losses."

He referred to the seven fatalities recorded in the county during 1973 The sheriff screened slides on two fatalities which occurred last year at railroad crossings in Cass County One of the people killed was a Plattsmouth radio station station announcer who drove to the scene of the railroad-highway fatal crash returned to the station to report the story and was himself killed when he started across the tracks after leaving the radio station

The interesting story by the sheriff and his deputies Harris Esluer and Jerry Williams, was told with the use of colored slides

Deputy Esluer told Optimists that the woman who was the first fatality, had stopped at an accident scene north of Nebraska City a short time earlier, blocked traffic and had to be ordered by the officer to move her car It was a tragic report the officer gave

A man died later of injuries sustained in that accident north of Nebraska City

The sheriff also displayed a number of items confiscated in drug cases One of the instruments or whatever you want to call it is available in Lincoln for $9 95, the officers said It contains white wine or some other liquid.

And according to the officers, one whiff was enough to convince them that it was pretty stout

Our friend, Raymond Bossung

One of the benefits about working in a newspaper is that we get a chance to rub elbows with many people A telephone call quite a number of years ago has grown into a special friendship for us Raymond Bossung is one of the men we call when we want to know something about hunting and fishing

To understand these following words, you have to be a sportsman Bob Poggemeyer will understand

Ray's hunting dog is dead. He had checked her only a short time before (a Hungarian Vizsla) and when he returned he found her dead in her pen Her death is a mystery Her loss hurts

Ray has had other hunting dogs and we've known a few of them They've all been hunting wonders

He got us started several years ago with one of our favorite breeds, the Weimeraner We had a lot of fun training her and at six months of age, we were about ready to plop down a wager to Ray that "my dog is better than your dog."

Unfortunately, the dog died a short time later and we never got a chance to make the wager nor hunt with her And, we've never found another sportsman's dog to equal her caliber She was one of a litter raised by Ray

If you want a workout, you ought to go along with Ray when he goes fishing

I did and we returned with a fine mess of fish, but he wore me out going from place to place checking lines and rebaiting

We tried some ice fishing the other day and had no luck. So, the next cold spell that comes along, we plan to call Ray for some advice Other fishermen say the ice sport isn't too good here because of water depths and fish species that we have

We're stubborn we'll call Ray and try it anyway

We had a pleasant visit recently with George Golden at a holiday party at Steinhart lodge, but we found that of the subjects we talked about, George failed to mention one

He will retire as a rural mail route carrier about the middle of February George served as a commissioned officer in the Army during WWII and has been at the post office for something over 30 years

Understand now, I'm not saying he "deserves" to retire, he's really too ornery to quit, but I guess the post office allows retirement to the 55 and 60-year-old employes

The Goldens have purchased some land at the edge of town and hope to have a new home erected soon George is quite a gardener and he enjoys his pipe, so I imagine he is looking forward to hoeing, smoking and sitting

It takes a lot of years on the job to save up for retirement and George is one of the saving kind he always sez, "save your money and buy no, not Bourbon you ninny, buy Scotch"

Rep Charles Thone's Lincoln office telephoned a Nebraska City party-faithful the other day to ask if some of the gals would help prepare a number of envelopes for mailing

The Nebraska City woman negotiated. She said that the county GOP women were still waiting for confirmation from Sen Richard Marvel for an appearance in Nebraska City January 31 and would Congressman Thone's secretary please call Marvel and get a "yes or a no"

Five minutes later Senator Marvel's secretary called, to explain that the letter didn't get to the Lincoln office until a day or so ago and that the senator would be pleased to speak in Nebraska City

That's what you call wheeling and dealing on the local level Now all the gals have to do is type addresses on those envelopes and the buddy-buddy system will be even-steven

Olin "Oley" Bennett, Topeka, Kans., said he wished he could move his business interests to Nebraska City because he likes the town and people so much, he'd like to live here

His wife, Irene, would enjoy it too The couple has relatives in Bellevue, but members of their immediate family and grandchildren and their businesses keep them in Topeka

Mr Bennett has spent some time in Nebraska City contacting Ralph Boerner, D & D Electric, Hatten Construction and probably others to get a pizza barn built at 412 Fourth Corso

The Kansan is a member of the Topeka "Honor" Optimist club and attended a Nebraska City Optimist luncheon meeting the other day He was impressed with the closeness of people in a small community, something that's lacking in the larger towns

He told Optimists a story about his first visit to Nebraska City with his parents in a Model T The story was that the family car got stuck east of town on the bottom and the family spent the night in the car Along with a few humorous remarks about the night, he added, "you just don't forget something like that"

He has traveled that route many times since, but now it's on blacktopped No 2 and the superhighway which stretches from Hamburg on north

If there's room for improvement at your house, we've got the money for improving your rooms.

There's no better time than right now to take care of the repairing and replacing work your house needs. Now, before the long, cold winter takes its toll in costly, wasted energy.

Look around. Is your home insulation adequate? Do all storm doors and windows fit tightly? Perhaps that worn-out old furnace needs to be replaced, or how about that faulty water heater? Perhaps you'd like to add a cozy fireplace to that chilly den or basement. Maybe you've even got room for a completely new room.

No matter. Whatever improving needs to be done, Otoe County National Bank can help with a low-cost FHA-HUD Title No. 1 home improvement loan.

Come in and let us know how we can help you.
